Thank you for the comments!

I'm translating the articles to English now (it goes a bit slow, but the first one will be finished soon).
When it is ready I'll post it here.

There will be two more parts - third one about SQL programming and the last one about graphics and something else

I'll translate them all at some point.

permission to translate articles into other languages.

Sure, I give my permission. Just keep the name of original author and the link to original.
