- Click outside the thumb, there is a fn `Jump()`, call `Jump( true )` to get the behaviour you are requesting.
- user defined formatting fn, this sounds like a great idea. So it would be a virtual fn I guess? Or is there a better way?
- I don't know much about .usc files, but I will try, can you point me to some information?
- Your idea to better use the space is a good one. I will look into this as well.
