

---

Subject: Re: Commercial applications developed with U++

Posted by 281264 on Mon, 04 Oct 2010 12:13:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Honza,

I agree with you. As a new comer I assert that U++ is absolutely great. Being positive (i.e. making constructive criticism) U++ lacks of a detailed/ordered/comprehensive "book of reference", a kind of book such as: "U++ from the ground up" or something like that; it would boost U++ a lot. For example, there are plenty of global functions not described any place: it is a pain to find out what are they for.

Anyway, long live U++.

Best wishes,

Javier