Please, this is not the place to push your personal anti-GPL agenda. As long as GPL does not limit our freedom (I mean of the project and the way we can use it), there is no reason to take such drastic steps.

And we can't say that you can link GPL applications in. That is not our right. GPL already grants and limits your right in its own way and we can not override it. If someone links with GPL and publishes the code, all the code is going to be GPL also.
