Hello koldo!
Maybe your system is too fast. The best way to see this issue is to use an application that can record video screenshots, and then play the recorded video in slow motion mode or by frames.
I made another animation with this program:

If you will try this app, don't set "Object / Window" of "Active window" in "Record What" section. I dod't know why, but these options don't work properly with UPP windows for me.

Animation file is attached. (This animation is recorded on other system)
