Hello all

I think maybe I have been somewhat excessive in the presentation.

Honza is a great person and, after two years and a half of contact, I have no doubt that absolutely everything he does, he does it selflessly and with the best intentions. And this is not rhetorical. I say it sincerely.

After the initial anger came the reflection: why this can happen.
After that comes learning, what we can learn.
And after that the action has to come.
