Well, I guess we'll have to look deeper into the changes in 2938. I'll try prepare some test and contact you via PM (no need for so much details here on the forum, especially as you are the only one experiencing the problem).

PS: Just to make sure, is 2929 the last working or 2038 the first broken?

Yes, 2929 is the last "working" and 2938 is "broken". It is just little inconvenience, especially when debugging. But I can live with that.
