I had a problem pulling a file in that way.
I will tinker with that later for a short help file.

What I did before was have help files a user could put an Icon link on his OS screen in .txt, .pdf or .html. The .html worked the best and was much easier to link to different sections than a .pdf and could be opened with any browser.

Thanks for the help getting informative text in the menu and I will eventually get the extra window implemented.
