Hi everyone!

I was trying to get some idea about how the users use our launchpad packages and since I am a huge fan of graphs and plots, here is a visualization I made (requires flash). The data presented in it were acquired using launchpad API to get download counts for the stable (a.k.a. release) PPA. I will also post a link for the similar data for nightly packages later.

Note: I'm under an impression that most of the data for older releases is not correct. You can see hug increase in downloads for 3211. It is possible (but I'm not sure) that the data were only gathered since about January, when the statistics were first made accessible through the launchpad API.

Hopefully you will enjoy playing with the visualization as much as I did

Best regards,
Honza
