Hi,

I'd like to give a friend my app text to translate in German... but he can't speak english, so the best would be to give him some ITALIAN<-->GERMAN list, which is not actually possible with .tr files. Another option would be to give him all .t files from upp project (that one would be my preferred solution....), but then most special chars are converted to \xxx codes, which makes transaltion almost impossible from outside theide.

So, the best would be, imho, to add an "export/import .t translations", which could gather all .t files and produce a single .t file with all languages and with \xxx codes converted to readable chars.

Would it be possible to add it ?
