Hi,

Very good explanation ! Thanks, Honza

Could you make a web page in the doc with that ? So, it will be easier to find and encourage people to document their code this way

Just missing in your explanation something about translations. In fact, it's easy and intuitive using the special editor in Thelde, but if people don't know that first, they could not try : I spent time googling about translations in .tpp files before I try and see that it's so easy It's a luck that I didn't get discouraged and abandon, and I'm afraid that it's what happens to some people...

=> if you want help about documentation and translations, just give us a better documentation about documentation
