If I have did understand your problem, there's TabBarCtrl in Bazaar to which I added some time ago a couple of callbacks named CancelCloseSome and WhenCloseSome just for that purpose.

First is called BEFORE a tab or also many tabs are being closed, giving the ability to prompt for a file/list of files to be saved; the latter happens AFTER the tabs are closed and allows the application to finish closing / do some cleanup.

It was refactored by original maintainer, but those callbacks are still there, IIRC.
I'm using a modified version of this control in my app and works quite good.

Edit : I've read now one of your posts about CancelCloseSome and WhenCloseSome.... the purpose is the one I've explained above; you can close multiple tabs at once and those allows you to group the closing prompts.
