
Subject: Re: What's up with Google subversion mirror?
Posted by frankdeprins on Thu, 22 Mar 2012 06:48:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

I agree that anything is better than subversion. If only for the local history. Personally I am a Mercurial adept.

But do you mean that Google only hosts small projects?

Anyway; since the nightly builds were already (re)moved, it may make sense to move to gitorious, github, Bitbucket or what have you. On the other hand, the problems with google hosting seem to me very few. I upgrade from the subversion mirror on a daily basis and seldom had any problems.

Just my 2 cents,

frank
