Subject: Re: Funny problem: Need some stable link to big file (~20MB) Posted by mirek on Thu, 19 Apr 2012 22:39:19 GMT

dolik.rce wrote on Thu, 19 April 2012 15:13I think the best think that can be downloaded from stable link is U++ itself E.g.:

Stupid me! I was thinking about a good url for at least 20 minutes, and missed this obvious one...

Quote:
 http://downloads.sourceforge.net/project/upp/upp/4179/upp-x1 1-src-4179.tar.gz However, it requires redirect, does does the GuiWebDownload support that?

Sure. It evens copies cookies

Interestingly, the first job for new HttpRequest was testing thousands of ads urls to be functional. You would not believe the things various sites are doing with HTTP But it was definitely quite a good test.

Mirek