Hello Nixnixnix

I advice you and all U++ users, from professional to hobbyist, to use always the latest, most updated sources.

I recognize that some times this focus causes small problems. I am tempted many times to do slight changes to original sources to do something I find interesting but finally almost 100% of times U++ has already the way to do the things right.

And thank you Nixnixnix, you are doing it bright with your professional project. You are one of the very few enough courageous to do it public.
