Hi Jonarmani,

A lot of improvements are generally implemented in the nightly builds. My way is to rename the installation directory of my current stable U++ version and install the latest build (ex. I rename Upp directory Upp-5010 for example and install the latest version ex. U++5021 in Upp).

So I can try the new build with minimal risk and can return easily to the previous stable version by renaming back the Upp-XXXX to Upp.

Regards
