Hi Koldo,

Welcome to web development.

When you reply to server, you have to add in response package header the correct mime type and 'Content-Disposition: attachment;'

for more details you can find on Wikipedia website.

Also very good lessons you can take from Node.JS + Connect and Express.JS packages.

I had a requirement to tell to client that it should be downloaded with a specific file name.

I hope if this a solution what are you looking for!

Update: Would you like to implement this job on client side or on server side?
