How to guarantee, that only authenticated clients are connected to internal XmlRpc server?

I operate some equipment in the unprotected network. I consider use possibility for this XmlRpc.
But I want to protect access to management of the equipment at least the password.
Probably, is there a way, alternative XmlRpc?