Subject: TheIDE startup should be now faster
Posted by mirek on Sat, 25 Aug 2012 07:43:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have refactored two facilities that made starting theide somewhat slow:

- main package selection - it now uses improved algorithm with more heavy caching and some more heuristics; possible issue is that it can misidentify some folders as packages (but remove them later) anyway this would only be a display problem for short time

- synchronizing Topic++ after package is selected now runs in background. Possible problem is that documentation popups can be missing for a couple of seconds after theide start and that keyword search in help might not work for the same duration