Hello Navi,

The problem is not with U++ but how you use WINAPI.

Quote:lpNewFileName [in]

The new name for the file or directory. The new name must not already exist. A new file may be on a different file system or drive. A new directory must be on the same drive.

What are you trying to do is exactly what this API call doesn't allow. It should work if you choose a new name for files.

Best regards,
Andrei
