Lance,

I am not sure i understand what you mean with Quote:
Can you post a screen shot of your main package package organizer?

Also I have another question.

Lets say I set it up correctly and start working locally.

When it comes time to compile the project and more specifically the server side app.
Before I compile the app do I have to again make all those references and setups with the appropriate paths to the server's database?

Thank you very much.

Best,
Georgi