Subject: Re: What do you do first when you start developing an application?
Posted by dolik.rce on Fri, 14 Dec 2012 11:02:51 GMT

I usually follow the same flow as zsolt, minus the writing to textfile (I'm very lazy)

Also, I usually start without GUI (if possible), writing the main functionality as console app, testing it with some fixed values representing user inputs and only later binding the functions to GUI.

Honza