Yes I am referring to Android Tablets as from the first post:
"The CPU & GPU of some Android Tablets ..."

I have 2 Notebooks with ATI/AMD and 2 with Intel.

"But if you build an U++ app on Linux x86 it runs only on Intel processors."
I don't know where that idea comes from.

I am not that familiar with the Android OS but the 64bit as well as 32bit is supported, probably just depends on the CPU.

Thanks for the response as I want to get information before making a purchase.
