Hi lectus,

It is not simple to answer simply It depends a lot on the company and on the person. I'd say the cheap our beer is

As far as I know, it tends to be little more then Java programmers get, since C++ coders are harder to find these days. There are still companies that are hiring on C++ positions, but it is not simple to find pure C++ job. I was hired as C++/Python developer, but I have to use Java regularly too (and have bad dreams afterwards).
