Subject: Re: Why do you use U++?

Posted by lectus on Mon, 24 Dec 2012 17:10:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Here's another one:

Building U++ with a new compiler (VS2012) was quick and easy even if this compiler is not officially supported yet.

And I didn't even need to use the command line/configure/make. Thelde built U++ when I tried to build an application.

With other libraries it's not true.