ASUS is good. If this is your first laptop you will like the portability and being able to hook up to the internet.
McDonalds and Denny's is good for me while getting something to eat when 150 miles from home at my Farm/Ranch.

Look at the 5th image down on this page.

Also you should be able to import images.

Upp is very powerful and you can do whatever you want once you know how. The documentation is much better than before but could still be improved. AFAIK the 'Manual' you can click on the forum still is not available as a download.

The help on the forum is excellent.

Just for kicks try OpenGL in reference.
