Subject: Re: Separate Database Access code
Posted by lectus on Tue, 22 Jan 2013 16:49:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm no U++ expert, but I don't see the problem with global SQL.

You can set SQL variable and then later have the program set it to something else.

And then set it back with no problem.

Also, consider building this library as DLL. So, this way the global SQL will be internal to the DLL and thus different from the application using it.