I'm about to push in a package that adds some special button styles. Actually it is named : ButtonStyles ... but I think the name may need some refactoring since it's a bit to general I think.

I'm open to all suggestions.

NB: the image shows only a few of the drawable styles.

I am currently coding a a demo application that will show most of the possibilities.

Nice, but I think it would look much better painted aliased.
