Hello Honza,

Thank you very very much for your efforts. I've just run the script without any problems on my ArchLinux installed machine, it configured pacman and dowloaded the latest theide-nogtk-5876-1 daily build (binaries) successfully. Everything is working fine. Imo, this seems a better way to install U++ binaries on archlinux. AUR is good too but having compiled binaries is what I prefer. Since I use daily build (check it weekly, actually), you can be sure that I will inform you of any package problems on Archlinux side. Keep up the good work!

Regards.
