Hello Mirek,

It was looking good on yours Mint skin, because it used gtk-backend (Even if we set leftgap to 100, we will not see difference on gtk-backend). This value only determinates X11-backend gap (I have made several tests).

Personally, I think that 26 is optimal value for X11 backend, but 20 is definitely too low. If you have time You can make test without and with gtk-backend.

Sincerely,
