Before compressing the problem into a test case I tried some more things to fix it myself and the result is that the problem is now gone. Yay!

The removing and re-adding of tabs was triggered by a save button the standard way:

```
save <=<= THISBACK(SaveData);
```

I replaced it with:

```
save.WhenPush = THISBACK(SaveData);

Does the standard way trigger the function on the initial push and does WhenPush trigger it after first releasing the mouse perhaps? Then I could understand my mouse cursor getting its focus stuck on it.

Anyway, the problem is gone and in retrospect I am happy that I still put my threads in Newbie corner
