Subject: Re: How to host a Skylark app?
Posted by dolik.rce on Sun, 21 Jul 2013 14:48:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

sergeynikitin wrote on Sat, 20 July 2013 23:23I'm use RUNIT for binary fast restarting if problem occur.
Yes, having a some kind of supervising process (a.k.a. watchdog) is a good thing. There is many options available: runit, daemontools, systemd, monit, supervisord and probably many others. Some hosting services provide some solution already, with others you can choose yourself.

Honza