No, PM me instead! I will work for you in declining USD! I have no U++ experience, but I live in the US, so you can trust me! I also have accounting experience, so you can trust me with your money as well. I also worked for the software giant, which has a long and rich history of being unoriginal and ripping everything off... Not to mention outsourcing. Just like all of their big competition. So I am really a professional!

I am also a magician as well... Give me access to your company bank account... And I can make it disappear!
