

---

Subject: Re: Confused about ArrayCtrl

Posted by Novo on Fri, 27 Sep 2013 03:02:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

IMHO, this callback is designed to inform you that data has changed. No matter how. To get position you can call `GetCursor()`. It is not hard to figure out what happened. You just need to know number of records before this callback. If you check number of records inside of this callback and calculate the difference, then you get only three different values: -1, 0, +1, which mean deleted, changed, added.

---