

---

Subject: Re: What could be the best way to implement U++ blogging?

Posted by fudadmin on Sat, 29 Jul 2006 16:33:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

rbmatt wrote on Sat, 29 July 2006 16:04 That brings up the bigger question of "hois much going to change on the website?"

But specifically on blogging, the easiest way would be to download some package and integrate it into the site. Before I used a package that was meant specifically for pre-designed sites. I'll look for it and test it out on my server.

Do we have a candidate for upp website maintainer on sourceforge?

---