- When searching the search window allways jump to the bottom of the screen, using lubuntu it get's hidding partially by the status bar, I would expect it to manatin it's position.

Now reading this, what you mean by "hidding by status bar"? Do you mean theide status bar or lubuntu bottom pane? Theide should read workarea from host platform, workarea should account for any desktop environment features...

(Other than that, it is moved away so that you can see the found text).
