Hi Javier,

As far as I know there is only one thing around that does this: The installer for U++ itself :) The code is rather simple and can be found in uppbox/MakeInstall4. It just copies all the files and folders to one location, compiles the binaries and cals 7z to compress it and in the end it calls WinInstaller to make the archive into an installer. Easy and straight forward, no magic involved :)

Best regards,
Honza
