Quote:- .sf.net in domain Smile

- high google rating
- being listen in sf.net directory

Never the less I think that sf limitation to the web site are more important.

Quote:In fact, it is also true that it would be possible to have the www outside sf.net and still be hosted, with redirection of www and use sf.net for svn and downloads.

It would be a good solution. What about organizing a poll and see what U++ community think about this issue.
