The front page of this site still needs to be updated to 8227 instead of the old 5485.

((Or would it be better to simply remove version numbers from there? Newcomers do not need this information since they are likely headed to the download page to get whatever is the latest release and those already familiar with U++... well they do not need it either on the front page, I guess.))

Best regards,

Tom

Thanks, missed that one...
