Mirek,

Thank you for responding to the question and the investigative work you did.

You said: "...We will need to add some typical Linux fonts that support Korean."

Is there a time table for this to happen?

Will it be announced as a release or will it show up in a nightly snap shot?

If this were available, we would like to make use of it since we have a need for this in our project.

Again, thank you for your help.
