I don't care about windows at all (I still wonder the people are using it? Actually I'm now for short period time outsourced to other company, and they gave me Windows PC for Android development??? Wonders never cease...).

About C++11 ... yes please. I already use it in all my projects (target platform usually android+iOS+winphone8+, linux for myself during development), and so far only Windows Phone 8/10 is problematic (hint: MS C Compiler).

I daily see such poor C++ code from legacy libraries, and so on... I wish everybody would write at U++ quality level, and imagine that plus C++11/14 ... that would be phenomenal.
