Subject: Re: Project questions...
Posted by mirek on Wed, 04 Jan 2006 09:42:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

ChrisSE wrote on Tue, 03 January 2006 18:06
4. Are there templates available for creating a Win32 DLL or static library? DevC++ has a really nice interface for creating new projects. I wish Ultimate++ had this interface.

Just checked DevC++ templates. Well, it is true that DLL template is now missing in the U++ (something to fix - anybody willing to contribute it?).

However, as for template system itself, TheIDE's does not look as good (no nice icons , but is way more powerful - it allows you to set various options when creating project and shows you files it is going create (based on actual options).

Or is there something about DevC++ templates I am missing?

Mirek