I fiddled with this tonight. Got it to work in principle, word wrap was a pain, I did it manually, which is why there are still glitches and whatnot.

I used size.cx from the paint routine to draw the space for the text, which isn't correct apparently, because the text spans beyond the array widget.

Also I must have an off by one error one the space removal or something. But the widget basically works, so I'm happy, dynamic row size and all! Yay.

I'll get the thing working properly soonish.
