

---

Subject: Re: skylark meet strange problem
Posted by dolik.rce on Tue, 21 Jun 2016 20:50:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi akabee,

Are you sure there is nothing else listening on that port? On Linux you can check with command like this: "netstat -ntlp | grep <port>".

From my experience, the most common cause for this is that I forget about an instance of my program I launched earlier :) Or that I killed it improperly, so that some of the processes stay active and still listen on the port.

Best regards,
Honza

---