thank you for your offer, at the moment we improve the embedded variant of AIBWord (AIBRichEdit) and optimize AIBForm
(a program for documents with read only state, but with form fields that can be fill in)

AIBWord -> is a replacement for our Microsoft Word interface in our product.
It's ready to use and has already a few extensions which go back to customer requirements.

AIBForm -> that is a new product. Our Customer should this product use for her customer. It is intended to automate data collection and data transmission.

Your ScatterDraw has to many function that i found a simple user-friendly layout for all function.
On the other side, like the 20/80 rule, we start with a simple variant.

But maybe, if you want, you can see the sourcecode, maybe you have a better idea/solution.

In the appendix I have listed some pictures and one AIBWord-Document
