Hello,

We are getting closer to our 2017.1 release. So, it would be nice to talk to each other via on-line communication like Skype. This meeting should be organized during weekend (Saturday or Sunday). This would be developer meetings, but everyone can participate.

The core content of that talk would be presentation of what we did in current release and our next steps. If something should be done before 2017.1 we also want to discuss such things.

Please let me know what you think about this, and if you agree please propose eventually a term - I think the best term will be when Mirek can be presented. Don't forget about differences in timezones.

Sincerely,
Klugier
