We are getting closer to our 2017.1 release. So, it would be nice to talk to each other via on-line communication like Skype. This meeting should be organize during weekend (Saturday or Sunday). This would be developer meetings, but everyone can participate.

The core content of that talk would be presentation what we done in current release and our next steps. If something should be done before 2017.1 we also want to discuss such things.

Please let me know what do you thing about this, and if you are agree please propose eventually term - I think the best term will be when Mirek can be presented. Don't forget about differences in timezones.

Sincerely,
Klugier

Oh, you do not expect me to prepare powerpoint slides, I hope?

Anyway, in the past, we were doing these with irc. What are modern day alternatives?

Mirek
