Yes, it's enough, thank you. Wonder why didn't I try before asking.

I even didn't try autoseup because msvc2015 just not installed. I use EWDK instead, it doesn't require any installation, it unpacked to some folder and ready to use. There one batch file which sets PATH and some other variables, and then one can use command line to launch msbuild or manually run cl.exe, link.exe and others.

If somebody will decide to try this toolchain with upp, here screenshot of my initial (just to build examples) settings (win7 x64, x64 target, ewdk placed in c:\ewdk folder):
