
Subject: Re: Web Assembly... Compiling U++ code to run in the web browser...
Posted by Klugier on Sun, 26 Mar 2017 12:03:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

We developed the ability to run u++ application inside the web browser using JavaScript. If you are interested you can check WebWorld (examples assembly). You can compile it by your own.

The current problem now is that WebAssembly doesn't support direct c++ api for events etc. Everything should be done on JS side. But, I see the big potential in the future when the biggest drawbacks will be eliminated.

Sincerely,
Klugier