Hello,

Code folding has got long term tradition in u++ framework. Many wants to see it. Currently, nobody finished it - so the feature will need to wait for better times. I agree that it is needed, but with current .cpp/.h, navigator and good code design it is not critical for us to survive. Of course, if somebody delivers such solution for TheIDE we can easily integrated it with our main line source code base.

So, if you have tones of time to do that, you are welcome ;) But, firstly you need to learn basics - Am I right?

Sincerely,
Klugier
